Teaching Experience: Course Descriptions

Adjunct Lecturer, Augusta State University | Art Department Augusta, GA Fall 2012

HUMN 2002: World Humanities | This course was a team-taught, interdisciplinary course on art, music, literature, and philosophy. It explored Asian, African, and Western cultures from the seventeenth century to the present day by surveying selected “cultural monuments” (ideas, masterpieces, and/or creators) of artworks, music, and literature deemed significant for their influence on the evolution of Western and world cultures. I developed and conducted lectures and quizzes for the art section alongside faculty teaching the music and literature sections.

Assistant Professor of Art, Michigan State University | School of Art & Art History East Lansing, MI 2010-2011

Digital Photography I | This course introduced students to photographic history, contemporary and historical photographic theory, and black-and-white digital photographic techniques. Students learned digital still camera operation, digital photographic retouching using Adobe Photoshop and Adobe Camera Raw, RAW processing, digital asset management, and digital printing.

Color Photography | This course introduced students to photographic history, contemporary and historical photographic theory, and digital color photography techniques. Students learned digital photographic retouching, enhancement, and manipulation using Adobe Photoshop and Adobe Camera Raw, RAW processing, digital asset management, digital printing, digital photographic collage and compositing, advanced selections and sharpening, and stop-motion animation.

Senior Photography Workshop | This course introduced students to advanced color photography techniques and included the completion of individual senior thesis projects. Techniques introduced include integration of 3D imaging with photography, alternative processes, HDR photography, and integration of moving images and still images.

Digital Photography for Non-Majors | This course introduced non-majors to photographic history, contemporary and historical photographic theory, and black-and-white digital photographic techniques. Students learned digital still camera operation, digital photographic retouching using Adobe Photoshop and Adobe Camera Raw, RAW processing, digital asset management, and digital printing.

Independent Study & Senior Projects | I guided four junior and senior students on self-initiated projects in which they learned intermediate and advanced photography concepts and techniques.

Lecturer, University of Michigan | School of Art & Design Ann Arbor, MI 2007-2010

Concept, Form, & Context I: Human Being | This course facilitated idea generation, brainstorming, mock-up creation, and conceptual development of creative projects in all media. Using a medium of their choice for each assignment, students created projects in response to the general themes of 1) the human body, 2) the human mind, 3) communication between human beings, 4) the immediate and expansive spaces that human beings occupy, and 5) the identity of each student as a human being.

Techniques, Materials, & Processes III: Time | This course introduced students to time-based media theory and techniques. Students learned digital video camera operation, digital video and sound capture and editing using Final Cut Pro, stop-motion animation, digital animation using Flash, and performance art.

The Human Body as Armature | In this course, students created works that focused on the structure and function of the human body and its relationship to space and human identity. Projects included wearables, small spaces/dwellings, sculptural appendages, drawings, performances, videos, and/or photographs.

Performance for the Camera | In this course, students created performances to be captured by still images, moving images, and sound.

Digital Studio I | This course introduced students to various digital media, including 2D design and illustration using Adobe Photoshop & Illustrator, 3D design using Google Sketchup, interactive animation using Flash, and website design using Flash & Dreamweaver.

Adjunct Lecturer, Eastern Michigan University | School of Art Ypsilanti, MI 2009-2010

Computer Imaging | This course introduced students to computer-generated imaging techniques and theory, including digital collage using Adobe Photoshop, digital illustration using Adobe Illustrator, stop-motion animation using digital photography and Final Cut Express, interactive digital animation using Flash, and website design using Flash.

Intermediate Photography II | In this course, students learned intermediate digital photography techniques, theory, and history. Students learned digital photographic retouching, enhancement, and manipulation using Adobe Photoshop and Adobe Camera Raw, RAW processing, digital asset management, digital printing, digital photographic collage and compositing, and advanced selections and sharpening.

Photography Instructor, Washtenaw Community College | Visual Arts Technology Ann Arbor, MI 2007-2010

Digital Photography II | In this course, students learned advanced color digital photography techniques, including digital photographic retouching, enhancement, and manipulation using Adobe Photoshop and Adobe Camera Raw, RAW processing, digital asset management, digital printing, digital photographic collage and compositing, advanced selections and sharpening, HDR (High Dynamic Range) photography using Photomatix, and digital panoramic imaging.

Darkroom Photography I | This course introduced students to 35 mm camera operation and techniques, black-and-white photographic darkroom developing and printing, and photographic composition and theory.

Digital Photography I | This course introduced students to digital photography techniques, including digital photographic retouching, enhancement, and manipulation using Adobe Photoshop, Lightroom, and Adobe Camera Raw, RAW processing, digital asset management, digital printing, digital photographic collage and compositing, advanced selections and sharpening, and flatbed and film negative scanning.

Research Assistant for Photography Textbook | Rebekah Modrak, Associate Professor UofM, Ann Arbor, MI 2009

As a research assistant for Rebekah Modrak, I conducted research on current digital photographic technologies and methodologies for her textbook Reframing Contemporary Photography (www.reframingphotography.com). I completed written and digital imaging demonstrations of various contemporary photography techniques.

Photography Workshop Instructor, University of Michigan | Lloyd Hall Scholars Program Ann Arbor, MI 2006-2008

I was responsible for overseeing the usage and maintenance of the darkroom, leading the photography club, instructing students on darkroom photography, and leading a workshop on the creation of photographic essays.

Graduate Student Instructor, University of Michigan | School of Art & Design Ann Arbor, MI 2003-2006

Integrative Project: Undergraduate Senior Studio | This two-semester course synthesized students' academic and studio work through their creation of an individual thesis project in a medium of their choice.

Techniques, Materials, & Processes: Photography | This course introduced students to pinhole photography, photograms, black-and-white darkroom developing and printing, digital photography, and photographic transfer techniques.

Art & Design Perspectives: The Individual, Art & Design Perspectives: Society, Art & Design Perspectives: Technology & the Environment, Art & Design Perspectives: Philosophy | I led discussion sections for each of these four courses which integrate art and design issues, ideas, and history.

Student Awards & Publications | Kim Berens (MSU) & Vince Roberts (U of M), 2011

Vince Roberts | Sweet+Station online art blog publication | Project completed in Human Body as Armature at The University of Michigan, Spring 2009 | Published 2011

Kim Berens | Adobe Design Achievement Award Semifinalist | Project started in Peter Glendinning's class at Michigan State University and continued in my Fall 2010 Color Photography class

Professional Experience

Co-Founder and Chief Creative Officer of Open Spaces, Open Minds, Santa Cruz, CA, 2021

I co-founded this company to inspire children to explore nature with true curiosity and joy. I created videos that seek to ask open-ended questions rooted in nature that do not have a 'right' answer but that children explore through experiences and process-based making projects. I created videos that guide children through careful observation, exploration of themselves and the world, and by discovering new perspectives through the process of art-making and self-expression.

Recreation Leader, City of Scotts Valley, Scotts Valley, CA March 2013-August 2013

I was responsible for supervising and leading children (grades K-5) in active and inactive learning and play activities, including arts and crafts, games, reading, and homework.

CAD Mechanical Engineering Modeler (Contract Position), CRANE Merchandising Systems, Williston, SC 2011-2012

I created CAD (computer aided design) 3D models and engineering drawings for mechanical parts in vending machines using the 3D-modeling program Solidworks.

Photographic & Graphic Imaging Customer Service Representative, Paragon Display Ann Arbor, MI 2006-2007

I assisted customers at the point-of-purchase in ordering and buying photographs and printed displays. I set up digital images for printing, helped customers select from different printing options, operated a cash register, completed orders for customers, answered questions, and addressed concerns.

Industrial Design Intern, Whirlpool Corporation Benton Harbor, MI Summer 2003

I conducted research and color studies to determine color schemes for exterior components of a washer and dryer line (using pantone forecasting and lifestyle studies). I designed a plastic laundry basket and plastic divider for the drawer in the washer and dryer pedestal using the 3D modeling program Rhinoceros 3D.

Creativity Director for Start-Up Company, Inventables Champaign, IL Summer 2002

I was Creativity Director for this company when it was in the start-up phase. The company specializes in “hands-on education and training on new materials and technology for people that design products” (www.inventables.com). I worked collaboratively with other team members to design the slogan, the logo, t-shirts, and other marketing materials. At that time, the product was a collection of objects and materials assembled to inspire creativity in designers. I photographed the materials and objects within the case. All members of the team searched for interesting fasteners, materials, and mechanical parts.

Mechanical Engineering Design Intern, Motorola Corporation Libertyville, IL Summer 2000 & Summer 2001

I designed mechanical components in rubber, metal, and plastic, including a power button, a rubber grommet protecting the mic input, and a battery compartment/enclosure using the 3D modeling program ProEngineer. I interfaced with industrial designers, electrical engineers, and mechanical engineers when completing these designs.

Volunteer Experience & Service

Alumni Board Member, Department of Mechanical Science and Engineering (MechSE), University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign, 2021-2022

School Programs Intern, The Santa Cruz Museum of Art & History (The MAH), 2013

Led interactive school field trips that blend Santa Cruz history with art-making for elementary school children in Santa Cruz County.

Jury Panelist for Digital Art & Photography , 2011 Ann Arbor Art Fair Ann Arbor, MI

As a panelist on the selection committee, I helped to select the digital art and photography exhibitors for the 2011 Ann Arbor Art Fair.

Reviewer/Jury member, ReCUR: Red Cedar Undergraduate Research Journal (MSU) Lansing, MI 2011

I reviewed photographic submissions for an undergraduate research journal at Michigan State University.

Collaborator (Graphic Design & Photography Documentation), The Gallery Project Ann Arbor, MI 2008-2011

I co-curated the exhibition Faux Real, performed website maintenance, collaborated on ideas for exhibitions, designed post-cards, and documented artworks in the exhibitions using photography.

Art Mentor, University of Michigan Mentorship Program for High School Students Ann Arbor, MI 2005

I mentored a high school student on a summer photography project.
